STORMY SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

Charles Pincock Appointed Night Detective—War of Words On Appointment.

Ogden, Dec. 22.—Last night's meeting of the city council was characterized by turmoil and strife. Following a several hours' conference in the mayor's office at which some changes in the personnel of the police department were discussed, the meeting was called to order over an hour later than the regular time for assembling.

Chief of Police Browning sent in the appointment of Charles Pincock as night detective, to take the place made vacant by the recent resignation of John Hutchins, who a few days ago was appointed a deputy sheriff of the county. O. H. Mahlman was appointed patrolman to fill the vacancy caused by Pincock's promotion.

W. W. Richardson, better known as "Rawhide" Kelly, who was at one time manager of Rudolph Unholz and Cyclone Johnny Thompson, the well known lightweight pugilists, applied for a position on the police force and the application was referred to the police committee.

Some sharp words ensued between Councilmen Dana and Thomas over a resolution introduced by the former, asking that the matter of purchasing a rock crusher be referred to the committee on public grounds and buildings. Mr. Thomas is a member of the street committee and wanted the matter left in the hands of his committee. After a long and tiresome argument in which President Browning was forced to call for order several times, Councilman Peery got a motion through referring the matter to both committees, which appeared to satisfy all concerned.

Another war of words ensued when Councilman Thomas proposed the name

Ivory Soap is as mild, as soothing, as cleansing as the finest undiluted Castile soap. It should be used for every purpose for which pure Castile soap is used—for baby's bath as well as for washing everything he wears; his underclothes, his frocks, his stockings, everything about him from the top of his little bald head to the tips of his pink and white toes.

of Ben Ternes as desk sergeant and license collector, to supplant George Wardlaw, who now holds this position. Councilman Thomas insisted that the council had promised when Ternes and two other policemen were discharged several months ago that they should be given the preference when a vacancy occurred. This vacancy was created at last night's meeting by the acceptance of the resignation of Patrolman Erickson, and Mr. Thomas insisted that Mr. Ternes be given the appointment as desk sergeant, necessitating Mr. Wardlaw acting as a regular patrolman. Other members of the council while not opposed to Ternes' appointment, thought the matter should go to the police committee and the chief of police for a report. A motion to this effect was finally put and carried, disposing of further discussion.

A number of ordinances passed their second reading and were referred to the law committee and the city attorney.

The court granted her $10 a month alimony and restored her maiden name, Julia Keller.
